CHAPTER 14

CITIZENSHIP

CHAPTER ESSENCE AT A GLANCE:
Examine full and equal membership, civic rights versus obligations, challenges of refugees and statelessness, universal citizenship, and global citizenship concepts.

4 CORE PRINCIPLES TO UNDERSTAND FIRST

• Meaning and Scope of Citizenship: Citizenship is the legal and political status of full and equal membership in a political community, conferring civil, political, and socio-economic rights alongside civic obligations to the state.

• Equal Membership and Internal Inclusion: Equal citizenship demands that marginalized groups, slum dwellers, internal migrants, and indigenous communities enjoy equal access to public spaces, democratic voice, and state welfare, without discrimination based on origin.

• Citizens, Aliens, and Statelessness: While citizens enjoy full political rights, aliens (foreign residents) lack political participation; refugees and stateless individuals face severe vulnerabilities because they lack the legal protection and documentation of any sovereign state.

• Universal versus Differentiated Citizenship: While universal citizenship advocates identical rights for all citizens, differentiated citizenship (Iris Marion Young) argues that accommodating historically disadvantaged groups requires specific group-differentiated protections and cultural exemptions.

CRUCIAL EXAM PRECAUTIONS & VALUATION RUBRIC SECRETS

• Alert: T.H. Marshall traced the historical growth of citizenship in England through three successive centuries: civil rights in the 18th, political rights in the 19th, and social rights in the 20th century.

• Alert: Differentiated citizenship does not undermine unity; it provides targeted protections to cultural minorities to ensure genuine inclusion within the political community.

HIGH-YIELD CENTUM QUESTIONS & STEP-BY-STEP EXPLANATIONS

1. Define citizenship. How does a citizen differ from an alien? [Score: 2 Marks]

Answer & Key Valuation Steps:

• Definition: Citizenship is full and equal membership in a political community granting complete civil, political, and social rights. [1 Mark]

• Difference from Alien: Citizens enjoy political rights like voting and holding public office, whereas aliens (foreign nationals) enjoy civil protections but cannot vote or contest elections. [1 Mark]

2. Explain T.H. Marshall three-fold classification of citizenship rights. [Score: 3 Marks]

Answer & Key Valuation Steps:

• 1. Civil Rights (18th Century): Freedom of speech, thought, faith, property rights, and right to justice in courts. [1 Mark]

• 2. Political Rights (19th Century): Right to participate in the exercise of political power, as an elector or an elected representative. [1 Mark]

• 3. Social Rights (20th Century): Right to economic welfare, education, healthcare, and security to live according to civilized standards. [1 Mark]

3. Examine the difficulties and humanitarian challenges faced by refugees and stateless persons in the international system. [Score: 4 Marks]

Answer & Key Valuation Steps:

• Definition of Stateless Persons: Individuals not recognized as citizens by any sovereign state under the operation of its laws, lacking passports or identity documents. [1 Mark]

• Plight of Refugees: People forced to flee their home country due to war, persecution, famine, or state terror, seeking asylum in foreign borders. [1 Mark]

• Denial of Basic Rights: Denied legal employment, property ownership, formal education, free movement, and public healthcare in host nations. [1 Mark]

• Perpetual Insecurity: Constantly threatened by deportation, prolonged detention in refugee camps, and exploitation by human traffickers. [1 Mark]

4. Distinguish between universal citizenship and differentiated citizenship. [Score: 4 Marks]

Answer & Key Valuation Steps:

• 1. Universal Citizenship Concept: Assumes that all members of the political community should possess identical rights regardless of cultural differences. [1 Mark]

• 2. Universal Citizenship Flaw: Often imposes the norms and values of the dominant majority on cultural, linguistic, and religious minorities. [1 Mark]

• 3. Differentiated Citizenship (Iris Marion Young): Advocates group-differentiated rights and exemptions to accommodate the distinct needs of vulnerable communities. [1 Mark]

• 4. Concrete Example: Allowing religious minorities to run their own educational institutions or exempting Sikhs from wearing motorcycle helmets to respect their turban. [1 Mark]

5. Discuss the tensions between the constitutional right of internal migrants to reside anywhere in India and regionalist 'sons of the soil' sentiments. [Score: 5 Marks]

Answer & Key Valuation Steps:

• Constitutional Guarantee (Article 19(1)(d) and (e)): Every Indian citizen enjoys the fundamental right to move freely throughout the territory of India and reside in any part. [1 Mark]

• Economic Driving Forces: Unequal regional development drives workers, artisans, and professionals from poorer states to metropolitan industrial centers. [1 Mark]

• Sons of the Soil Ideology: Local political movements claim that indigenous residents have exclusive or preferential entitlement to local jobs, land, and resources. [1 Mark]

• Social Friction: Migrants frequently face language barriers, hostility, discrimination in housing, and violent nativist backlashes from regionalist groups. [1 Mark]

• Democratic Resolution: National unity and economic growth require upholding single citizenship while simultaneously pursuing balanced regional development to reduce distress migration. [1 Mark]

6. Critically evaluate the ideal of global citizenship. Can global citizenship effectively address problems that cross national boundaries? [Score: 6 Marks]

Answer & Key Valuation Steps:

• Concept of Global Citizenship: The belief that all human beings belong to a single global community with shared ethical responsibilities transcending sovereign nation-states. [1 Mark]

• Transnational Challenges: Crises like global climate change, pandemics, international financial collapses, and refugee displacements cannot be solved by any single state acting alone. [1.5 Marks]

• Global Solidarity in Action: International civil movements, humanitarian charities, and environmental networks demonstrate growing civic action across borders. [1 Mark]

• Absence of Global Government: A major structural limit is that there is no world sovereign state or world parliament to enforce global citizenship rights legally. [1 Mark]

• National Sovereignty Persistence: States continue to prioritize narrow national self-interests, border controls, and domestic voter demands over international obligations. [1 Mark]

• Complementary Vision: Global citizenship does not replace national citizenship; it broadens moral awareness and fosters cooperative multilateral solutions for common survival. [0.5 Mark]
